DECISION - MAKING AT almost every level generally is a traumatic experience for those involved either in the making of the decision or being affected by them.

Especially in controversial issues, decisions often create bitterness in some quarters and favor in others.

That was sort of brought into focus last week when The Press editorially commended the actions of the citizens caucus committee endorsing Gordon Abbott and George Baker for trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) District in the April 17 election.

We submitted that this group of concerned citizens, of the caucus committee, had the courage to stand up and be counted at this crucial time in the school district's history.

They decided that Gordon Abbott and George Baker had the qualifications that this group was seeking in a trustee and, therefore, the group endorsed Abbott and Baker.

Naturally such a decision has proved unpopular in many circles. We can think of seven spots right off the top of our head where such an action would be condemned.

Y'see there are nine candidates running for three positions that are open.

So it figures that, if only two are endorsed by any group, it means there are seven other candidates who feel that such an endorsement is unfair.

This all gets back to our original premise.

Decision-making at almost any level is a traumatic experience for someone whether on the receiving or giving end.

Or to put it another way, there is no way to please everyone.

No way.

ANOTHER CRITICISM that has been leveled at the caucus committee is that the group only endorsed two candidates and there are three positions open.

So how come?

Why not endorse three people instead of just two?

The committee members, representing a cross-section of the community, were in agreement that Gordon Abbott and George Baker met the criteria that had been established in a somewhat informal manner.

It was conceded that many of the other candidates also had excellent qualifications and could meet the "criteria" that had been set.

But there was not the unanimity among the caucus members for the third opening as there was for the two, Abbott and Baker.

So the decision of the group was to leave it thataway.

In our opinion, that was sound reasoning.

Of course, there are many who will disagree.

But we find no fault with that.

People have disagreed with us before.

Or had you noticed?

UNDOUBTEDLY, THE BIcentennial celebration of the American Revolution in 1976 will be exciting and memorable.

Already diverse "Heritage '76" programs are in the process of being developed.

In scanning the Bicentennial Newsletter that we received recently we noted that a number of projects of "Heritage '76" have been officially recognized.

By the time 1976 rolls around, we have a sneaking hunch that most all of us will be familiar with the ARBC and what it stands for.

By the way, ARBC are the initials of American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

"GEYSERS"--Mike Gellerman, a fifth grade student at Castlemont, selected "geysers" as his project for the Campbell Union (elementary) School District science fair which will take place this Saturday at Castlemont. Mike became interested in geysers after a trip to Yellowstone National Park. His teacher is Mrs. Harriett Johansson.

A LIGHT PROJECT---"What makes a light go on?" is the title of the project of Dave Motekaitis in the Campbell Union School District annual science fair this Saturday at Castlemont School, where Mike is a fourth grader. His teacher is Miss Lala Neblett.

SIGN ON "THE TOWERS"

Pruneyard seeks to make "Peace on Earth" legal

"Peace on Earth" could go back atop The Towers as a permanent fixture, if the City Council approves the PruneYard management request that has been submitted to the city. The request will be before the City Council next Monday, March 26.

The famed, but currently illegal, sign with its appealing message was taken down last Friday by direction of the City Council.

To make it legal, the present city ordinance would have to be amended to allow rooftop signs.

The PruneYard management indicated, in a letter to the Council, that if "Peace on Earth" was approved, the 58-foot pole sign for identification of the PruneYard and Towers would not be installed.

The pole sign was approved by the City Council on March 12.

The "Peace on Earth" sign, which has attracted a favorable reaction from people in all areas, was put in place atop the 18-story building, without authorization, prior to Christmas.

Although an "illegal sign" under the present city ordinances, it was officially "ignored" in city circles because of the timeliness of its message during the Vietnam peace settlement activities and subsequent release of the POWs.

Faced with the unhappy dilemma of either allowing an obvious violation to continue or enforcing the law, a divided City Council on March 12, by a 3-2 vote, after many fruitless attempts to find the answer, directed that "Peace on Earth" must come down within two weeks.

Prior to that action, the PruneYard management had indicated that the sign would be removed whenever directed by the City Council. Last Friday the sign came down.

While the battle raged, and since the sign's removal, letters and phone calls from citizens have deluged the City Hall protesting the Council's action.

In the request to the City Council, Joe Dabaghian, manager of the PruneYard and The Towers, representing Fred Sahadi, the developer, explained that the PruneYard management had weighed the public reaction to the appeal of the message in relation to the purely commercial aspect of the pole sign that had been approved.

The PruneYard management had concluded, therefore, to withdraw the pole sign and request that the "Peace on Earth" sign be approved.

"We request your re-examination," Dabaghian submits, "of the 'Peace on Earth' sign as a permanent statement of the community's conviction, to remain in place as long as the message it embodies, is current and meaningful to our neighbors. Your concurrence in this undertaking would be appreciated."

NOON LUNCHEON, MARCH 28

City to mark 21st birthday

Members of the Chamber of Commerce, city employees, former city councilmen and other special guests will join in a special luncheon honoring the 21st birthday of the City of Campbell on Wednesday, March 28, according to Jeanette Watson, general chairman.

The noon birthday luncheon will be held in the fire station on Central Avenue next to the new city hall. Before the city acquired the Congregational Church building, which served as the city hall for 16 years, city business was conducted in the fire station. The church building has now been replaced by the $1 million city hall.

Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Ed Fabbri, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will greet guests. Music during the luncheon will be provided by Frank Palermo, a city public works employee, and his group.

The birthday luncheon will take the place of the monthly luncheon meeting of the CofC.

During the luncheon, City Manager Bob Stephens will present awards to seven city employees who have been with the city for 15 years or more. These are, Dorothy Trevethan, Jeanne Sheehy, Evelyn Adamson, Don Burr, Fred Jones, Bill Morgan and

Chez sues

Five Campbell councilmen, Joyce Kealoha and a number of "does" were named in a suit filed by Fred E. Chez this week in the Superior Court.

Chez charges that the dog kennel operation recently approved by the City Council for Miss Kealoha at 1849 Pollard Road was an abuse of the Council jurisdiction and was unconstitutional.

After extensive hearings, at which sound engineers testified as to the decibels involved, the Council approved a rezoning for the one-acre parcel which would allow the dog kennel operation, provided it met established noise level standards.

Chez owns adjoining commercial property on which a partially constructed office building has remained for sometime. A drainage channel, a high tension power line, railroad tracks and the proposed West Valley freeway are also adjacent to the property.

THIS SATURDAY AT CASTLEMONT

District to hold 16th annual science fair

Castlemont School, on Payne Avenue just off Winchester, will be the scene this Saturday, March 24, for the 16th annual science fair of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District.

Students from the fourth to eighth grades of the district's 19 schools and St. Lucy's will participate in the activities. The exhibits will be on view to the public starting at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Judges from elementary, high school and college levels will team up with professional scientists from IBM, GE and PG&E, the Santa Clara County Health Department, school nurses and other personnel in the selection of the division's best entries.

The selection committee will review the projects on Friday evening, March 23, and students will be interviewed on Saturday between 8:00 and 10:30 a.m.

Planners reject conversion of residence into office

Maintaining that plans submitted by Gold Seal Realty to convert a residential building into an office at 492 Nottingham Way did not meet the city's requirements, the Planning Commission denied the use permit application on Monday night.

The applicant indicated that the ruling would be appealed to the City Council.

The application had been before the Planning Commission since January 15 and the planning staff had indicated that the plans did not meet the parking, building coverage or design standards. It was also noted that the property exists with a dual use, residential and office, which is contrary to the city code. The applicant, Chris Williams, informed the Planning Commission that the firm had been in the building since 1970.

Plans for two office buildings, submitted by Thomas MacIvor, local attorney, were approved by the Commission. The property is located at 1930 S. Bascom. The total building area will be 9,856 square feet.

Approval was also given I.D. Wiens for plans for an office - manufacturing - warehouse building at 529 Forman Ave. and one year extension in the development schedule was recommended for Lowell Grattan for property at Llewellyn and Hamilton.

The Planning Commission approved the elimination of the sprinkler system for Coco's restaurant at 330 E. Hamilton, as requested by the applicant. But some of the commissioners expressed concern over the fact that no recommendation from the fire department on the matter had been submitted.

The commissioners expressed sympathy with the request made by Vernon A. Heisinger for a two-foot side-yard setback to allow a carport at his residence at 74 Jane Ann Way, but continued the variance request for two weeks to allow the applicant to consult with the staff. The planning staff had suggested that the variance was not

CAMPBELL ELEMENTARY

Mrs. Margaret Ota seeks office of school trustee

An accomplished dancer, she has appeared with the Los Lupenos dance group and is also a member of the Multi-Ethnic Advisory Committee, as well as having membership in the Title I district parent advisory committee and has lectured in schools on dancing.

In her statement, Mrs. Ota said:

"As a lifelong resident and parent in the district, I am concerned with educating the students in the most effective way possible, at a just cost to the taxpayers, in a way that the burdents and benefits are evenly shared.

"Quality education for all children best denotes the meaning of democracy. An additional part of the democratic tradition has to do with the stress upon the individual, and the belief that all individuals should be encouraged to develop themselves to their maximum potential."

Trustees to meet

Another letter from a representative of the Mexican-American community asking for time to be heard is on the agenda for the regular board of trustees meeting of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District this Thursday.

The board meets at 7 p.m. in the district office.

The trustees are also expected to approve the dedication of a portion of the street fronting Hamilton School to the city for the street widening project.

Discussion is also scheduled for the construction projects proposed at Forest Hill and Rosemary schools.

IN ELEMENTARY DISTRICT

Mrs. Maria Flaherty runs for Campbell school board

Mrs. Maria Flaherty, of 121 Smith Creek Dr., Los Gatos, who is seeking one of the three trustee positions open in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District election on April 17, has been a resident of the district since 1962.

She and her husband, Jim Flaherty, a Lockheed engineer, have five children, three of them, Michael, Bryan and Christina, are now attending Marshall Lane School. Thomas, 4, is in nursery school and John, 2, is at home. Prior to moving to the Smith Creek address, the Flahertys lived on Monica Lane, served by Castlemont School, where she was a member of the executive board of the Castlemont Home and School Club. She is presently a member of the Marshall Lane Home and School Club.

Mrs. Flaherty was born in Los Angeles where she attended school. She has a bachelor's degree in sociology from UCLA and a master's degree in social work. She was employed by Olive View Hospital in Los Angeles while going to school.

She is a member of the League of Women Voters and has been active in the educational studies of that organization. She was an active member of the Marshall Lane Concerned Citizens Group at Marshall Lane last year and also of the steering committee for educational goals study at Marshall Lane.

She has also been active with youth groups of her church and community.

In her statement, Mrs. Flaherty said:

"I feel that a major task ahead is to ensure that all the many and varied voices in the community be heard. The community must participate actively with the administration and teachers in a cooperative effort to assess our needs and goals, discuss alternatives, evaluate and reassess the allocation of human and material resources.

"A board member must be responsive, must maintain perspective by neither over-correcting nor under-correcting problems which are brought before them. In order to assure this, it is imperative that we create an atmosphere of trust and cooperation in order to facilitate communication, the first step in solving the many complex issues ahead."

Editorial

County makes offer

Some weeks ago the county supervisors adopted a policy which specified that on July 1, 1973, the county would underwrite the costs of communication and dispatching for all the cities.

Unfortunately since the first announcement, although there have been a number of conferences, nothing has been forthcoming from the county authorities indicating how this revolutionary proposal is to be implemented.

This has concerned the various cities in the county that would be affected, if such a communications plan would go in effect.

There is much more to it than merely waving a wand and announcing that come July 1, 1973, the county will assume all the costs of the dispatching of police, fire, public works and other agency vehicles.

On the surface, of course, it sounds like an excellent idea.

In one fell swoop, an age-old controversy would be settled. For a much longer period of time than most city and county governmental people hate to talk about, there has been no fair system which defines what services a city dweller should receive from a county service subsidized from the general tax base.

Many people, unfortunately, who reside within the confines of a city are unaware that, along with their specific city tax, they also pay the same general county tax rate that is paid by those who reside in unincorporated or "county" areas.

The question then that has bugged the powers-that-be during these years of expanding government has been how to establish a basic service for all taxpayers whether the taxpayer is a city dweller or "county."

Theory is one thing, practice is another.

It has been pretty well determined that the so-called "county" resident gets a far better break for his county tax dollar than the city dweller does.

There are some basic reasons for this, of course. For example, the City of Campbell has an outstanding police department that is financed by the city taxpayers.

Obviously, seldom is it ever necessary for a deputy, sheriff, other than for special duties, to enforce the law within the city limits or answer emergency calls for the residents of the city.

That, of course, is not the case in the unincorporated areas.

It is true that the people in Campbell are getting a much higher intensity of police protection than in the "county" but the city people are also paying for this.

Police protection is furnished the unincorporated areas at the expense of all the county taxpayers.

There are other instances where there is this overlap.

The communications and dispatching system is a good example.

The county communication and dispatch service is funded from the general tax rate of the county.

For 20 years, however, City of Campbell contracted for the dispatching services needed by this city from the county.

For X-number of dollars per year, Campbell paid the county for these services. Each year the contract price went up. Last year the City of Campbell established its own communication system because it was found that it could do so more economically than to pay the contract price levied by the county.

Campbell concedes that this city should pay for the "extra" services offered this municipality.

But the question always arises as to how to put a price tag on the basic and the "extra" services.

But under this new county proposal, the entire picture will change. Or at least that is the impression that we have gained.

In other words, there is no need to worry about any basic cost and "extra" services formual, the county is going to pick up the entire tab from the general tax base or from federal revenue-sharing.

And that cannot just mean SOME of the cities.

Obviously it must mean all 15 of the municipalities from San Jose to Monte Sereno because the basic county general tax is the same in all the cities.

On the surface, then, this proposal of the county is almost breath-taking.

We would guess that the communication system operated by the City of San Jose is as complete and extensive as that of the county's and then there is Santa Clara, Palo Alto, Sunnyvale?

While we believe that there is room for improvements in these overlapping city-county situations, we are not certain that it would be fair for the county taxpayer to pay the entire communication bill for all the cities.

There are many ramifications to this proposal that still need to be studied.

During the next few years, ARBC is bound to become increasingly important in our daily lives.

A 200th birthday bash should be quite an event especially if you consider who all is putting on the party.

It definitely will not be for "a few intimate friends."

A couple hundred million people are involved in some manner.

There will be many who couldn't care less about the whole thing. "Heritage '76" will mean nothing to them.

And there will be some of course, who will belittle the whole idea as just another corny act of the establishment. "Heritage" or "patriotism" are words they want ignored.

At the risk of being accused of being old-fashioned, square or worse, we maintain that celebrating the bicentennial is a great idea.

If it is wrong to get a catch in our throat when the national anthem is played or when the flag is paraded, it is a little late for us to change now.

And quite frankly, when viewing those welcome home receptions of the POWs on TV, if you saw us wipe our eyes, it was not because there was anything in 'em.

Other than a tear or two, that is...

We guess we must be a real problem to some of those people who maintain that everything is all wrong with this country and they are going to change it overnight.

We concede, of course, that we are not living in a utopia. It happens to be the United States.

And in 1976, the bicentennial will be celebrated.

And things have not been all that bad during these past 200 years.

BACK IN 1876, THIS country celebrated its 100th year as a nation.

Recently we have been reading about some of the many events that took place when the century milestone was reached.

For example, we noted that a women's lib group in Philadelphia attempted to demonstrate and to disrupt the program on July 4, 1876.

We thought that was sort of interesting as an illustration to show how demonstrations and disruptions are not "weapons" that have been invented by modern-day protestors.

We quote from a report of that July 4, 1876 event:

...."This was the moment Susan B. Anthony and four colleagues had waited for. After passing out copies of "The Declaration of Independence for Women" to assembled and startled dignitaries, Susan Anthony proceeded to drown out poet Bayard Taylor's "National Ode" by reading her own document louder and clearer from across the way. Afterwards the suffragettes congregated at the Unitarian church to sing the appropriately titled "A Hundred Years Hence" which described a time when women would hopefully have equality with men and government would no longer be all male."

We thought that account sort of brought things up-to-date.

Sort of.

THUS OUR NEXT ITEM drops into place just as if we had planned it thataway.

For quite some time now, many of the news releases that the office has received refer to the female of the species as "Ms."

We find nothing wrong with that idea and, although we don't know how to pronounce it unless we hiss it, there is some merit to it.

There have been hundreds of times in the past, we know, when we have had to contact some gal executive (especially credit managers) and we have not known whether to address the lady as "Mrs." or "Miss."

Now we can just hiss "Ms." and not miss.

BUT THAT WAS REALLY not what we wanted to explain.

This "Ms." thing maybe is okay, but we almost fell off our chair recently when a publicity release hit the office that reported the election of officers of an organization.

The officers were "Chairperson, first vice-chairperson and second vice-chairperson."

We thought it was ridiculous.

Immediately we envisioned a meeting when this "chairperson" was presiding and we wanted to address the chair.

If a gal happened to be wielding the gavel, we suppose it would be proper to hiss, "Ms. Chairperson."

But it still seems sort of silly.

And we suppose that "yes Ma'am, no Ma'am and thank you Ma'am," can no longer be used.

Instead it would be "yes Ms., no Ms., and thank you Ms."...

But we know we will change if we are told to.

Men generally do.

And for starters, our office is completely dominated by 'em.

Ms.'es, that is.

Death comes to former councilman, Bob McElroy

Funeral services were held Saturday for Robert (Bob) L. McElroy, 44, who was a Campbell city councilman from 1962 through 1965 when he resigned to accept a position in San Francisco.

Death came after a lengthy illness to the former councilman who had resided in Santa Clara at 1826 Bowers Ave., in recent years. Rosary services were conducted on Friday and a Mass of the Resurrection was said on Saturday at St. Lawrence Church. Private inurnment followed.

McElroy is survived by his wife, Halliet, two sons, Don and Doug and two daughters, Doretta and Delana McElroy, all of Santa Clara.

He is also survived by his parents, Mrs. Irene Stinson, of Redwood City and Jewell McElroy of San Rafael, and a sister, Mrs. Loretta Lodes, of Paradise.

A veteran of the Korean War, serving in the Army from 1950-52, McElroy defeated an incumbent in the 1962 election.

He served on the City Council until December, 1965, when he accepted the position in San Francisco that forced him to move from the city. Homer Hyde was appointed as councilman to replace him.

McElroy, who was in sales and public relations all his adult life, was reared in San Francisco and later lived in Redwood City and San Mateo, besides Campbell.

Council discusses library at special meeting Tuesday

A series of questions affecting the plans for the library building were on the agenda for the adjourned City Council meeting on Tuesday night (after press time).

Suggested alternates were to be submitted by Bill Hedley, architect, in order to stay within the budget and possible action as to how the inspection of the construction should be handled was to be discussed.

Plans for the street and sidewalk alignments were to be presented by the public works department.

Another item on the agenda which city officials throughout the entire county have expressed concern involves the proposal of the county supervisors to assume all the costs of communications and dispatching for the cities.

No details, as yet, have been forthcoming as to how this proposal by the county is to be carried out.

The councilmen were also expected to discuss the various ramifications involved when the public works department leaves the engineering building and moves into the city hall wing.

Estimates on the cost to bring the engineering building, owned by the city, up to code have been submitted. Whether the building should be demolished is another question that faces the city.

The money derived from a sale of the parcel must be earmarked for recreational purposes, according to the agreement by which the city acquired the property.

Permanent home found for college warehouse

The warehouse - maintenance complex, to be located on the Saratoga campus of West Valley College, has finally found a home.

Thursday evening trustees of the board voted to move the complex from its original location, across from residents of the Short Hill Court area in Saratoga, to the interior of the campus, near the physical education athletic fields.

Residents of the area had voiced opposition to the complex, noting that in the original plans the complex included a law enforcement classroom complex. That complex has since been planned for construction near the new business education complex.

In making their decision, trustees agreed with Supt. James P. Hardy who noted that a decision on placement of the complex could be delayed no longer, since it had an effect on an upcoming bid for the second phase of the physical education complex.

In moving the complex an additional parking area was created in that area. In later action the board voted to landscape and light the parking lot in the same manner as that used in the Fruitvale Avenue parking facility.

For the purpose of determining the number of signs, the sign shall be considered to be a single display device containing elements organized, related, and composed to form a unit. Where matter is displayed in a random manner without organized relationship of elements, or where there is reasonable doubt about the relationship of elements, each element shall be considered to be a single sign.

The surface area of a sign shall be computed as including the entire area within a regular geometric form or combinations of regular geometric forms comprising all of the display area of the sign and including all of the elements of the matter displayed. Frames and structural members not bearing advertising matter shall not be included in computation of surface area. When the size of a sign is regulated, the regulation refers to one display surface only. On a sign having more than one display surface, each display surface may equal the maximum dimensions prescribed in the regulation unless otherwise specifically provided. (Prior code §9330.1).

(1) Signs not exceeding one and one-half square feet in area and bearing only property numbers, post-office box numbers, names of occupants of premises, or other identification of premises not having commercial connotations except for identification of an approved home occupation;

(2) Flags and insignia of any government except where displayed in connection with commercial promotion;

(3) Legal notices; identification, informational, safety, or directional signs erected or required by governmental bodies or public utilities;

(4) Integral decorative or architectural features of buildings, except letters, trademarks, moving parts, or moving lights;

(5) Signs directing and guiding traffic and parking on private property, but bearing no advertising matter and having a display area of less than six square feet;

(6) Signs not exceeding twelve square feet in total display area pertaining only to the prospective sale, rental, or lease of the premises upon which displayed;

(7) On-site signs temporarily attached to or lettered on the exterior or interior of a store window. (Prior code §9330.2).

21.68.040 Permitted. Signs may be permitted in the city only in the cases and under the conditions set forth in Sections 21.68.070 through 21.68.090. All signs not specifically permitted by or exempted from these regulations are prohibited. (Prior code §9330.3).

21.68.050 Temporary. (a) On-site signs not exceeding forty square feet in area, for each display surface, advertising the sale of subdivisions of five or more lots may be permitted provided that not more than one such sign having not more than two display surfaces may be located at each major approach to the subdivision, and provided further that the display of such signs shall be limited to a six-month period. At the expiration of such fixed period of time, the applicant may request a further extension of time; otherwise, the sign shall be removed. When the fixed period of time for the display has expired and the sign has not been removed, the city, after ten days notice to the owner, may enter upon the premises upon which such sign is located and remove such sign at no liability to the city and at the expense of the owner.

(b) One on-site sign not exceeding forty square feet in area, for each display surface, announcing the name and character of any non-residential building or complex, either to be constructed or under construction, may be permitted provided that such sign shall be removed within three months after final inspection of the building.

(c) Political signs (signs designed to influence the action of the voters of the city) may be permitted, subject to the following conditions:

(1) Each display surface for such signs shall be no larger than forty square feet and no signs shall have more than two display surfaces;

(2) Signs shall not be placed on public property nor in any residentially zoned districts;

(3) Signs shall be permitted thirty days before an election and shall be removed within ten days after the same election.

(d) The use of pennants, streamers or whirligigs may be permitted in connection with a "grand opening" or "open house." The display of such devices shall be limited, in the permit, to a specific period, as approved by the planning director. When the fixed period of time has expired and the sign has not been removed, the city may enter upon the premises upon which such devices are located and remove such devices at no liability to the city and at the expense of the owner. (Prior code §9330.31).

21.68.060 Permanent. All permanent signs shall be designed so as to be architecturally compatible with and suitable for the buildings and structures with which they are associated as well as the surrounding area. Signs which are proposed to be oriented to, or which are intended to be viewed primarily from freeways, expressways, or public facilities, shall be considered by the City Council upon recommendation from the Planning Commission and shall be for the purpose of identification only. Applications for such signs shall be considered by the Planning Commission in the same manner as architectural and site approval applications and in accord with the guidelines expressed by this chapter. The recommendation to the City Council shall be forwarded from the Planning Commission within 60 days of the filing of the application.

(B) The signs shall not move, nor be animated, nor have flashing or moving lights.

(C) Any illumination shall be provided either by interior lights or reflectors concealed in shrubbery or decorative structures. Such illumination shall not cause any glare on surrounding streets or adjacent property.

(6) On-site signs for non-conforming uses may be permitted provided:

(A) All regulations of the code pertaining to the use involved have been complied with.

(B) Such signs have been approved by the planning commission. The planning commission in granting approval shall be guided by the sign regulations pertaining to permitted uses in the same zoning districts and the relationship to adjacent development (Prior code §9330.3.2).

21.68.070 Permit. No sign (except those exempt from these regulations as provided in Section 21.68.030) shall be erected, re-erected, painted, repainted, created, or altered unless a permit has been issued by the building official as required by the codes and ordinances of the city. Except as otherwise provided, no permit shall be issued unless the proposed sign has been approved by the planning director. (Prior code §9330.4.1).

21.68.080 Application for permit. Application for sign approval shall be filed with the planning department. The planning director shall prescribe the form of application and data to be filed with the application. (Prior code §9330.4.1).

21.68.090 Approval of permit. The planning director may approve a proposed sign provided:

(1) Inspection of the site of the proposed sign and review of the plans discloses that all the regulations of this title pertaining to signs will be complied with. The planning director may attach such conditions as are necessary to carry out the intent of the title:

(2) The owner-and/or applicant agreed to abide by such sign regulations and conditions imposed by the planning director (this agreement shall be in writing). (Prior code §9330.4.2).

(3) The sign company name, date and permit number shall appear on all signs which require permits.

21.68.100 Referral. The planning director may refer any application for sign permit approval to the planning commission for their consideration as provided in Section 21.68.120. (Prior code §9330.4.3).

21.68.110 Appeals from decisions. Any decision of the planning director, either for conditional approval or denial, may be appealed to the planning commission. Such appeal shall be in writing and shall set forth the reason(s) for appeal and must be filed with the secretary of the planning commission within ten days from the date of decision of the planning director. 21.68.120 Action by planning commission. Upon receipt of an appeal or referral of any sign application, the planning commission shall consider the matter in the same manner as other architectural approval applications (Chapter 21.42), and shall set forth their decision within sixty days of receipt of such application.

The planning commission may authorize more signs, larger signs and/or higher signs, when it determines that the use or uses for which the signs are to be erected would be inadequately identified or unusually difficult to locate in comparison to similar uses without exceeding the standards provided herein; or when it determines that the use is of such size and is so located in reference to surrounding uses and/or the traffic circulation system that a larger or higher sign would best serve the public welfare and would be in keeping with the principles and purposes of this title. (Prior code §9330.6).

21.68.130 Nonconforming. Signs which were lawfully in existence and in use prior to, and at the time of the legal adoption of the sign ordinance, may remain in use even though they do not conform with the provisions of the ordinance, for a period of three years after the date the ordinance became effective.

All non-conforming signs shall be either removed or, at the election of the owner thereof, made to conform to the provisions of the ordinance within three (3) years from the date the ordinance became effective, or date of final annexation, with the following exceptions:

The owner of a non-conforming sign may be granted an extension of the usage of the non-conforming sign for a period of time equal to the period of time necessary to amortize the cost of the sign, for the purpose of depreciation as allowed under Section 167 of the Internal Revenue Service Code. Request for such extension shall be supported by legal documents, sworn statements, affidavits or other documents clearly establishing a need for the additional time beyond the standard three (3) year amortization period.

21.68.140 Abandoned. No person shall maintain or permit to be maintained on any premises owned or controlled by him any sign which has been abandoned. Any such sign shall promptly be removed by the owner of the premises. Any sign which is located on property which becomes vacant and unoccupied for a period of three months or more, and any sign which was erected for an occupant or business unrelated to the present occupant or his business, and any sign which pertains to a time, event or purpose which no longer pertains, shall be presumed to have been abandoned.

In approving the uses referred to in Chapter 21.66 the commission shall have authority to impose such conditions as it deems necessary to protect the best interest of the surrounding property or neighborhood and the comprehensive master plan. (Prior code §9330.8).

21.68.150 Signs on vehicles. No person shall park any vehicle which has attached thereto, suspended therefrom, or painted thereon, any advertising sign on the street or on private property to display, demonstrate, advertise, with the specific purpose of attracting the attention of the public.

Westmont Open Mouth

PAUL & MS. MAUREEN

(Macierz) (Hillyard)

Ms.: Only the weak crave sympathy!
Paul: What?
Ms.: Members of Phi Beta Kapa denounce your league!
Paul: Phi Beta Kapa. Is that a sorority or a disease?

DANCING DARLINGS

This Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in the cafetorium, Orchesis will present "Rhythmic Impressions" -- Westmont's second annual modern dance concert.

Feature attraction will be the dance drama "Billy the Kid" spotlighting Pam Heinen and Kim Trozzolillo as Pat Garret and Billy, respectively.

Advised by Pam East and Cathy Bean, and with a membership of about 60--boys and girls (rah)--students, the group will also present short studies.

Having been working since the beginning of the year--working hard--giving up their evenings and Sundays, it will be a rewarding experience to see them.

Tickets are $1.00 with ASB/$1.25 without, and may be purchased from a member.

Paul: Since when did you become Ms. Radical?
Ms.: Radical! Who's radical!?
Paul: You're wearing an SDS t-shirt.

WOUNDED WARRIOR

On Monday, March 12, an underground paper was handed out in the campus parking lot and at various entrances to the school.

The newspaper was called the Wounded Warrior.

This off-campus publication was one of the best we've seen here, and the news features were very good.

The stories were on such subjects as Being Real, Study Hall, Ecology, and one very good feature on how to graduate early.

In its first issue the Wounded Warrior states their objective as "Soft suggestions of change hidden between the lines. Not only do we hope that you find them, we hope you do something. We are trying."

Ms.: I'd rather be radical than a curly-haired conservative.
Paul: Who said I'm conservative?
Ms.: Paul, anybody who on his college application lists as his hobbies, liking people, cheerleading and living in America isn't liberal.

UPCOMING EVENTS, NEWS AND GOSSIP

Friday is International Student Day where about 30 foreign exchange students will visit Westmont.

An accreditation committee toured Westmont March 19-21.

This is to get it over with right now, all at once. Everyone in the Hillyard family, except yours dearly, celebrates their annual day in March. Here's a happy day to each one of them, and a bank statement to Maureen.

Go to the Orchesis modern dance concert Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the cafetorium.

Need something to do on a Friday or Saturday night at 8:30 with an extra $2.50? Go to the Gaslighter for a far out time.

Ms.: Paul, what are you wearing?
Paul: A headband. Isn't it "groovy?"
Ms.: Paul, it doesn't match your banker's grey suit.
Paul: But you should see my underwear.
Ms.: Why?
Paul: It's tye-dyed.

ACCREDITATION DAY

Westmont has just survived a grueling test of accreditation.

A committee headed by Dr. Meta Zahorsky (would we make up a name like that?) has been evaluating the academic strengths and weaknesses of our beloved school since Monday, February 19.

Dr. Zahorsky's findings will determine the number of years before Westmont will go through the accreditation routine again (1-5 years).

Paul: Maureen, teach me how to be a liberal.
Ms.: Well, first, when someone mentions revolution--don't turn yellow.
Paul: How about green?
Ms.: And SDS does not stand for Sugar Daddy Supporters.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT DAY

Friday, March 23, Westmont will be invaded by foreign exchange students from all over Europe and South America.

Westmont's own foreign exchange students will be in charge of the whole procedure of getting foreign students to the right classes to speak about their cultures and customs.

Yvonne Hall is the chairperson, Per Garstedt is in charge of scheduling and Marin Giller and Patsy Hasing are their assistants.

Ms.: Paul, I want you to listen to this editorial. I want you to tell me if you agree.

EDITORIAL HASSLING

"Today's learner," said William C. Kvarceus in Editorial Leadership, "is one to whom things are done rather than one who does. If he becomes too active or gives way to self-expression, and especially if he deviates, he will run the risk of the teachers' condemnation, assignment to the detention room, and even expulsion."

The truth in this statement is apparent.

Students are being overrun by a so-called immunity from criticism that teachers and administrators seem to feel they have.

The learning process of the institute stiffles any desire for knowledge or any attempt for uniqueness and self-expression, not only in the students, but in the staff as well.

"To see what is wrong with American high schools," stated Harold J. Noah in the Teachers College Record in May 1967, "all we need to do is take a look at what goes on day after day during a school year. The ineffaceable memory carried away by a serious observer who stays for more than the usual fleeting visit is the crashing boredom that afflicts both the teacher and the taught."

To help combat this, the American Civil Liberties Union and the American Association of University Professors have made 12 joint statements of recommendations on Freedom for Students.

Among them are:

Freedom of expression. The AACL and AAUP both state students should be free to express their opinions publicly or privately.

Freedom of the press. The ACLU and AAUP say all student publications should enjoy full freedom of the press. Neither faculty member nor administration should exercise veto power over what should be printed. Student press should be free of censorship and advance approval of copy with its editors free to develop their own editorial policies and news coverage.

Freedom to protest.

Freedom from disciplinary action without due process.

Freedom to use rights as private citizen.

Freedom of thought in the classroom.

We feel that students and faculty should not have to give up their human qualities and individuality in exchange for an education and a job.

It is our opinion that most administrators have gone far beyond themselves and are lost in their jobs, befuddled by methods and rules.

In our opinion these administrators have clouded over the reason for schools. It is not their purpose to be concentration camps to keep the children in line, but to open doors of knowledge for questioning minds.

Paul: I agree.

EGO CORNER

This week we bestow Ego Corner upon our greatest and truest fan.

Always there was a nasty word for Mike Lindsey and cheer for the Open Mouth; this week we give Ego Corner to song girl Mary Jayne Ybarra.

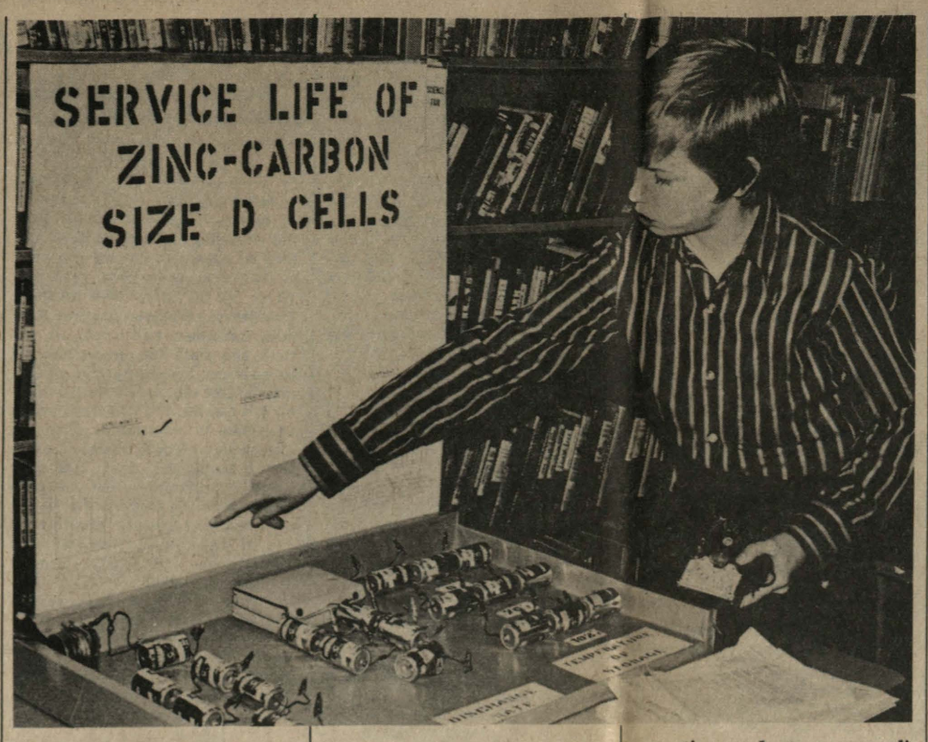
Paul: Does this mean I have to give up my grey suit?



REVIEWING PROJECT--Brian Gorman, a sixth grade student at Castlemont instructed by Bill Fletcher, reviews his project, "Service life of zinc-carbon size D cells," for the Campbell Union School District science fair this Saturday at Castlemont. The purpose of the project was to determine the best operating and storage conditions for D type flashlight cells. He experimented with the most efficient use of batteries.

United Fund announces local allocations

Central Santa Clara County human care service agencies are breathing a little easier this week after having received their official notice of funding from the Santa Clara County United Fund.

The announcement brings to a close 1973 UF agency relations and allocations meetings held here and throughout Santa Clara County since the first of the year. Allocated was $3,638,407 to 110 agencies from Palo Alto to Gilroy.

In Central Area, $1,257,308 was allocated to 49 agencies by a committee chaired by Austen D. Warburton, San Jose attorney. Of the total distributed in the Central Area Chapter, the following categories of services were funded: counseling and child care, 29.6 per cent; health and rehabilitation, 1.0 per cent; multiple community services, 19.8 per cent; youth and guidance, 49. 6 per cent.

Central Area includes the communities of Campbell, Cupertino, Los Gatos, Milpitas, Santa Clara, Saratoga and San Jose.

Approval of the distribution of 1973 money was made by the Central Area Chapter Board of Directors February 15 and public announcement withheld until official notification was made by mail to the agencies earlier this week.

Local agencies funded include: Eastfield Children's Center, $62,000; Cambrian Student Aid Fund, $100; Campbell Area Student Aid Fund, $1,500; Campbell Emergency Welfare Fund, $100; Campbell Union High School District Student Emergency Fund, $500.

Moreland Student Aid Fund, $300; Retirement Jobs, Incorporated, $10,000; West Valley Progressive Seniors, $2,400.

Letters to the Editor

QUESTIONS CAUCUS

Dear George:

I read with a great deal of interest your editorial of Wednesday, March 14, 1973, in which you refer to a caucus committee headed by Mr. Homer Hyde.

I'm sure Mr. Hyde and his committee went to great lengths to examine the qualifications of ALL the candidates and discussed with them THOROUGHLY their position on various educational issues. Unfortunately they overlooked one candidate whom I feel is excellently qualified to serve on the Board of Trustees.

Her educational background, work experience, community involvement and deep concern for the education of children is evident to many in the community. She is loyal, true, brave, steadfast, trustworthy, honest, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, cheerful, thrifty, clean and reverent.

And let's not overlook personal charisma. Or didn't that come across in the maximum 200-word statement that is filed in the county office?

I invite Mr. Hyde and his committee to contact her personally and discuss her position on crucial educational issues. I am confident that on perusal of her qualifications they will reconsider their endorsement and support MARIA FLAHERTY for Board of Trustees.

Sincerely,
MARIA FLAHERTY

P.S. The name is MARIA FLAHERTY not MARIE FLAHERTY.

PRIDE WEEK

Dear Mr. Vierhus,

The community of Forest Hill School is planning a "Pride Week" which extends from March 26 - 31. Mrs. Carolann Crawford is the Parent Chairman; Mr. Steven Braley, Vice Principal, is the School Chairman and Mr. Ron Troia is in charge of student activities.

Pride Week is to increase the sense of pride by the community of Forest Hill towards their school. Both faculty, students and people of the community are involved in a lot of activities all through the week to promote respect for the school.

The events taking place that week include a general clean-up around the school grounds and the paths on the way to and from Forest Hill. We will also plant flowers and trees to add warmth and color to the school. Benches will be built and painted to improve the school and develop a sense of ownership and pride in the school on March 31. The Student Government of Forest Hill will serve refreshments to those parents and members of the Forest Hill community who are involved in "Pride Day." Forest Hill and its community are interested in developing Forest Hill School both physically and academically.

The Forest Hill community invites its members to become active not only during Pride Day but throughout the year. We at Forest Hill know that you share our concerns regarding parent involvement in their community schools and know that you will assist us in our efforts.

Sincerely,
Troy Williams, pres.
Student Government

IF THEY HADN'T....

Three men are being held for immigration officials here after Campbell police, investigating a disturbance, learned the trio were in this country illegally.

During routine questioning at 100 W. Hamilton Ave., after receiving reports of a disturbance in progress, police found that the men, all in their 20's, had apparently arrived here from Mexico without proper entry.

DUELING

During the reign of George III of England (1760-1820), 170 duels were fought between members of Parliament, nearly all of them resulting in one or more fatalities.

Students may register now for summer

Students in all Campbell High School District schools are registering now with their counselors for summer school sessions scheduled this year from June 18 through July 27. Registration will continue until Friday, April 13, the last day of school before Easter vacation.

Classes will be held at Branham for students from Branham, Camden, Del Mar and Leigh and at Prospect for students from Prospect, Blackford, Westmont and Campbell.

The summer cultural program will be offered again at Campbell and students working on agricultural projects and farm maintenance and construction will go to the Westmont "farm".

Transportation will be provided for students from their home school to summer school except for students who are participating in the summer cultural program. They will have to provide their own transportation for classes there which will be in session Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

Appointed principals for the summer school are Miss Kathy Bull, Camden director of education, and Ernest Lee, dean of boys at Camden. Miss Bull, first woman principal to be named in the district, will be summer school principal at Prospect.

Lee, a teacher and administrator in the district since 1959, will head the summer session at Branham.

In charge of the cultural program at Campbell will be Gary Kenyon, Westmont, district music supervisor, William Perkins, Campbell music teacher, and John Hall, Campbell English teacher.

A total of 47 subjects, half 10-unit and half 5-unit courses, is listed in the curriculum choices. There are plenty of selections for both those students who need to make up units or who would like to spend part of the summer vacation enriching their education.

Offered for the first time this summer are boys and girls physical education classes including some special ones like bicycling. Auto shop will not be offered as there are no facilities for this class at Branham and Prospect.

Ten unit courses, four hours daily, include these subjects: algebra I and II, biology, chemistry, sophomore science, French I, Spanish I, German I, introduction to algebra, plane geometry, office machines, drafting, general metals, art I, arts and crafts, homemaking II-C, typing I and II, wood lab I and world history.

Five unit courses, two hours daily, are: American and comparative government, California history, U.S. history, world geography, developmental reading, remedial reading, English I, II and III, Shakespeare, speculative fiction, contemporary literature, creative writing, public speaking, ethnic studies, mathematics I, computer science, personal typing, notehand, sociology and P.E.

Three 10-unit courses--art seminar, music conservatory and theater arts--will be offered in the summer cultural program.
